- Emergency Services Agencies Detail Disaster Readiness to Senate Committee (The St. Croix Source, 9/13/2023)
  - Preparing for hurricane season, the Senate Committee on Homeland Security, Justice, and Public Safety heard testimony from disaster response agencies including the V.I. Territorial Emergency Management Agency, V.I. National Guard, Department of Human Services, and others. They questioned witnesses on the readiness of emergency shelters, food and water supplies, backup generators, the tsunami warning system, 911 call centers, emergency response teams and medical services, and other resources.
