A MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

The Nevada Legislature authorizes almost every department, agency, board and commission to adopt administrative regulations. Administrative regulations take into consideration complex and technical issues that are not addressed in our state statutes. The process of adopting administrative regulations gives the public insight into how laws passed by the legislature should be implemented and opportunities to be engaged in the process. To assist those involved with the process of adopting administrative regulations, the Office of the Attorney General offers training classes and has prepared this manual: ADMINISTRATIVE RULEMAKING—A PROCEDURAL GUIDE. This manual aims to provide its readers with a comprehensive explanation of the procedure of adopting administrative regulations. I hope this manual will be used as a helpful reference for Nevadans.

Introduction

➤ The Purpose of Rulemaking

Because of the increasingly complex nature of our society, the Legislature cannot be expected to anticipate and address every issue that may arise in a particular area. It may therefore properly delegate to an executive agency¹ part of its legislative authority to implement the policy it announces.² Although such policy may, as a general rule, be broadly defined, rulemaking authority must be delegated by a specific statute.³ An agency has no inherent authority to adopt regulations.

Regulations implement legislative policy and therefore must be consistent with that policy.

The Legislature may delegate rulemaking authority in general terms, such as where it provides that the agency “may . . . [a]dopt such regulations as are reasonable and necessary for the administration of this chapter.” NRS 645C.210(2)(a). The use of the word “may” in the statutory grant of authority usually indicates that the rulemaking authority is discretionary. Discretionary rules are those which an agency may adopt, although it is not required to do so. Mandatory rules are those which the agency is required by statute to adopt.⁴ The Legislature usually uses the word “shall” in defining such mandatory rules. Whether mandatory or discretionary, administrative regulations cannot contradict or conflict with the statute they are intended to implement.⁵ Furthermore, an agency must have specific authority authorizing it to charge or collect a fee before a regulation imposing any such fee may be enacted.

¹ NRS 233B.031 defines “Agency” as “an agency, bureau, board, commission, department, division, officer or employee of the Executive Department of the State Government authorized by law to make regulations or to determine contested cases.”

² See Mistretta v. United States, 488 U.S. 361 (1989).

⁵ Roberts v. State of Nevada, 104 Nev. 33, 752 P.2d 221 (1988).

Administrative regulations must be:

- ▶ Within the statutory rulemaking authority of the agency, consistent with the legislative policy in delegating that authority, and not arbitrary or capricious;
- ▶ Consistent with rights guaranteed by the Nevada and United States Constitutions;
- ▶ Adopted in compliance with statutory rulemaking procedures.⁶

This Manual is intended to assist those charged with adopting regulations by briefly describing the purpose and limitations of administrative rulemaking and the statutory requirements for adopting them. Since there may be requirements applicable to specific agencies, the agency should consult its attorney whenever it adopts regulations.

⁶ Statutory rulemaking procedures are found in NRS Chapter 233B.

An Overview

➤ Definition of Regulation

A regulation is defined by NRS 233B.038(1)(a) as “[a]n agency rule, standard, directive or statement of general applicability which effectuates or interprets law or policy, or describes the organization, procedure or practice requirements of any agency.” It also means “[a] proposed regulation, [t]he amendment or repeal of a prior regulation, and [t]he general application by an agency of a written policy, interpretation, process or procedure to determine whether a person is in compliance with a federal or state statute or regulation in order to assess a fine, monetary penalty or monetary interest.” NRS 233B.038(1)(b)–(d).

The term regulation does not include:

1. A statement concerning only the internal management of an agency and not affecting private rights or procedures available to the public;
2. A declaratory ruling;
3. An intra-agency memorandum;
4. A manual of internal policies and procedures or audit procedures of an agency which is used solely to train or provide guidance to employees of the agency and which is not used as authority in a contested case to determine whether a person is in compliance with a federal or state statute or regulation;
5. An agency decision or finding in a contested case;
6. An advisory opinion issued by an agency that is not of general applicability;
7. A published opinion of the Attorney General;
8. An interpretation of an agency that has statutory authority to issue interpretations;
9. Letters of approval, concurrence, or disapproval issued in relation to a permit for a specific project or activity;
10. A contract or agreement into which an agency has entered;
11. The provisions of a federal law, regulation, or guideline;

12. An emergency action taken by an agency that is necessary to protect public health and safety⁷;
13. The application by an agency of a policy, interpretation, process or procedure to a person who has sufficient prior actual notice of the policy, interpretation, process, or procedure to determine whether the person is in compliance with a federal or state statute or regulation in order to assess a fine, monetary penalty, or monetary interest;
14. A regulation concerning the use of public roads or facilities which is indicated to the public by means of signs, signals, and other traffic-control devices that conform with the manual and specifications for a uniform system of official traffic-control devices adopted pursuant to NRS 484A.430;
15. The classification of wildlife or the designation of seasons for hunting, fishing, or trapping by regulation of the Board of Wildlife Commissioners pursuant to the provisions of Title 45 of NRS; or
16. A technical bulletin prepared by the Department of Taxation pursuant to NRS Chapter 360 to educate the public on issues related to their businesses and the taxes administered by the Department and written opinions that the Department receives from the Attorney General pursuant to NRS 228.150.

A regulation has the force and effect of law.

NRS 233B.038(2). “A properly adopted substantive rule establishes a standard of conduct which has the force of law.” State ex rel. Tax Comm’n v. Safeway, 99 Nev. 626, 630, 668 P.2d 291, 294 (1983).

⁷ Pursuant to NRS 233B.0658, an agency that takes such an emergency action must file with the Legislative Counsel within 5 working days after taking the action a statement that describes the action taken and the reason for the action. If federal law, regulation, interpretation, or instruction prohibits the agency from describing the action taken or the reason for the action, the statement must cite the federal law, regulation, interpretation, or instruction that prohibits such disclosure. The Legislative Counsel must include the statement in the Register of Administrative Regulations published pursuant to NRS 233B.0653.

➤ Scope of the Administrative Procedure Act

The procedures described in this Manual govern rulemaking by agencies subject to the rulemaking provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act, NRS chapter 233B. Pursuant to NRS 233B.039, certain agencies are entirely exempt from the provisions of NRS chapter 233B. They are:

1. The Governor;
2. The Department of Corrections, except as otherwise provided in NRS 209.221;
3. The Nevada System of Higher Education;
4. The Office of the Military;
5. The State Gaming Control Board;
6. The Nevada Gaming Commission, except as otherwise provided in NRS 368A.140 and NRS 463.765;
7. The Division of Welfare and Supportive Services of the Department of Health and Human Services
8. The Division of Health Care Financing and Policy of the Department of Health and Human Services, except as otherwise provided in NRS 422.390;
9. The State Board of Examiners acting pursuant to NRS chapter 217;
10. The Office of the State Engineer, except as otherwise provided in NRS 533.365;
11. The Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry acting to enforce the provisions of NRS 618.375;
12. The Administrator of the Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry in establishing and adjusting the schedule of fees and charges for accident benefits pursuant to NRS 616C.260(2);
13. The Board to Review Claims in adopting resolutions to carry out its duties pursuant to NRS 590.830; and
14. The Silver State Health Insurance Exchange.

NRS 233B.039(1). The statute should be examined for additional exceptions and special situations.

➤ Rulemaking vs. Adjudication

NRS chapter 233B contains separate sections for “Administrative Regulations” and “Adjudication of Contested Cases.” It is important to understand the distinction between rulemaking and adjudication in order to determine whether a particular agency action requires the observance of rulemaking procedural formalities.

“Rulemaking is a determination of general applicability, by nature prospective, although it may have some incidental retroactive effect. . . . It is usually said that rulemaking is like the activity of legislators.” Charles H. Koch, Jr., Administrative Law and Practice, §2.3, p. 57–58 (1985). In contrast, “[a]djudication is a determination of individual rights or duties. Legal institutions tend to make such decisions through an adversarial process, usually a trial, and hence lawyers tend to think of adjudication as synonymous with a trial.” Id. It is in rulemaking that administrative agencies exercise their quasi-legislative authority, just as their function is quasi-judicial when deciding contested cases.

Since agency actions may be later invalidated if it is determined that the formalities of rulemaking should have been observed, the agency must carefully consider the nature of its actions regardless of their form. If the substance of the agency’s action is to define or establish a term or standard of conduct of general applicability, it may be deemed to have engaged in rulemaking even if the action takes place in the context of a proceeding more akin to adjudication.

In the case of Coury v. Whittlesea-Bell, 102 Nev. 302, 721 P.2d 375 (1986), the Public Service Commission was conducting a proceeding to determine whether an applicant should be granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate a limousine service. The Commission granted the application but limited its effect to the operation of “stretch” limousines of the type owned by the applicant, defining the term in a footnote of the decision. Because the district court found the term stretch limousine to be one of general applicability to effectuate commission policy, it reversed the Commission’s decision on appeal, holding that the Commission engaged in ad hoc rulemaking without observing the procedural rulemaking requirements of NRS chapter 233B. See also, Las Vegas Transit v. Las Vegas Strip Trolley, 105 Nev. 575, 780 P.2d 1145 (1989). The formalities of rulemaking are not required, however, when an agency merely attempts to enforce or implement the requirements of an existing statute. K-Mart Corporation v. SIIS, 101 Nev. 12, 693 P.2d 562 (1985).

➤ Benefits of Rulemaking—Public Participation

The decision to engage in rulemaking may come about in one of three ways:

- ▶ The Legislature may mandate that an agency adopt regulations addressing a particular subject;
- ▶ The agency may exercise its discretion to adopt a regulation within the permissible scope of its statutory authority; or
- ▶ A member of the public may petition the agency to adopt, amend or repeal a regulation. See NRS 233B.100.

Even where a particular regulation has not been initiated by a member of the public, participation in the rulemaking process by interested members of the public is a central theme of the procedural requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act. See NRS 233B.061.

Rulemaking may be used as a tool for fostering better understanding of legal requirements between an agency and those subject to the law administered by the agency. By the adoption of interpretive rules, agencies may attempt to remove uncertainty or ambiguity in the law. In some cases, regulations may be used to cure constitutionally defective statutes. See Universal Electric v. Labor Comm'r, 109 Nev. 127, 847 P.2d 1372 (1993). Rulemaking proceedings offer an opportunity for the regulators and regulated to cooperate on issues of mutual concern. Although subject to some degree of formality, it is generally less difficult to amend a regulation than it is to amend a statute.

➤ Rules of Practice

Pursuant to NRS 233B.050(1)(a), every agency must adopt rules of practice, setting forth the nature and requirements of all formal and informal procedures available, including a description of all forms and instructions used by the agency. The agency must review its rules of practice at least once every three years and file with the Secretary of State a statement setting forth the date on which the review was completed and describing any revisions made to the rules as a result of the review. NRS 233B.050(1)(d). Rules of practice must be available for public inspection. NRS 233B.050(1)(b).

A form used by the agency need not be adopted by regulation or described explicitly in the regulation. Including a general description of the form in the regulation, such as “on a form provided by the agency” is sufficient. If adopted in this manner, the form may then be changed by the agency without complying with the rulemaking requirements of NRS chapter 233B. If an agency elects to adopt a form as part of a regulation, it must be amended by regulation but may not be included as part of the Nevada Administrative Code. NRS 233B.062(1)(b).

➤ Declaratory Rulings and Petitions for Rulemaking

Every agency is required to adopt regulations which provide for the filing and disposition of petitions for declaratory orders and advisory opinions as to the applicability of any statutory provision, agency regulation, or decision of the agency. NRS 233B.120. In addition, every agency must provide by regulation for the form and procedure for submission by which interested persons may request the adoption, amendment, or repeal of regulations. NRS 233B.100(1). Upon submission of such a petition, the agency has 30 days within which to deny the petition or initiate rulemaking proceedings. Id.

Administrative procedures for declaratory rulings should facilitate, not complicate, the process of obtaining such relief as such rulings have the beneficial effect of preventing confusion and misunderstanding regarding an agency’s position in a particular matter. The procedures may be as simple as writing a letter to the head of the agency or as formal as conducting an evidentiary hearing followed by the filing of briefs by the parties, depending on the circumstances or wishes of the parties. For an example of rules of this type, see Nevada Administrative Code (NAC) 232.020 to 232.056, inclusive.

Rulemaking Procedure

➤ Summary

In general, the following steps must be completed when adopting regulations:

- ▶ Discuss the content or purpose of the proposed regulation with the board, commission, or agency head with rulemaking authority.⁸ Draft the language or determine what regulation changes are needed.
- ▶ Consider the impact of the regulation on small businesses and, if necessary, consult with small business owners and prepare a small business impact statement. If the agency determines that there will be a direct and significant economic burden, it must conduct an analysis of the likely impact. Draft a small business impact statement.
- ▶ Conduct at least one workshop with interested persons to discuss the general topics addressed in the regulation. This workshop must be conducted according to the requirements of the Open Meeting Law and, at the same time that the agency provides notice of this workshop to the public, an electronic copy of both the notice and agenda for this workshop must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The workshop agenda must also be posted on the State's official website.⁹
- ▶ In the case of a permanent regulation, send the draft regulation language or summary of regulation changes that are needed to the Legislative Counsel for drafting the proposed regulation.

⁹ In 2013, the Legislature added a provision to NRS Chapter 232, which requires all state agencies to post all notices required pursuant to the Open Meeting Law as specified in NRS 241.020 to the State's official website. See NRS 232.2175.

- ▶ After receiving the proposed regulation drafted by Legislative Counsel, set a hearing for public comment, draft a notice of the hearing, and post it along with the text of the proposed regulation for thirty (30) days. The public hearing must be conducted according to the requirements of the Open Meeting Law and, at the same time that the agency provides notice of this public hearing to the public, an electronic copy of both the notice and agenda for the public hearing must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The public hearing agenda must also be posted on the State's official website.¹⁰

- ▶ Conduct the public hearing.

- ▶ Evaluate and consider written and oral public comment on the proposed regulation and, in the case of permanent regulations, any revisions of form and style made by the Legislative Counsel. Discuss the comments made with the board, commission, or agency head, if necessary. Amend the draft regulation to reflect any changes resulting from public comment.¹¹

- ▶ Draft an informational statement describing the regulation and rulemaking proceeding. Prepare a statement regarding the methods used in determining the impact to small businesses and the reasons for the agency's conclusions. Prepare the Form for Filing of Administrative Regulations, a copy of which is included in Appendix E of this Manual. File the form and informational statement together with the final regulation with the Legislative Counsel.

- ▶ In the case of permanent regulations, after approval by the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations, the Legislative Counsel will file the regulation with the Secretary of State. File a copy of the regulation bearing the seal of the Secretary of State with the State Library and Archives Administrator.

¹¹ If any substantive changes were made to the rule after its initial revision by the Legislative Counsel, submit the changes to the Legislative Counsel for further review. See NRS 233B.063(2).

- ▶ In the case of a temporary regulation, file a copy of the regulation as adopted and the informational statement with the Secretary of State, the Legislative Counsel, and the State Library and Archives Administrator.
- ▶ In the case of an emergency regulation, after endorsement by the Governor, file a copy of the regulation with the Secretary of State and the Legislative Counsel.

➤ Types of Regulations

The three types of regulations are:

1. Permanent;
2. Temporary; and
3. Emergency.

There are three types of regulations, each with different procedural requirements. Permanent regulations are adopted using all the procedural formalities required by NRS chapter 233B. Temporary regulations are adopted in lieu of permanent regulations. Emergency regulations may, under emergency circumstances, be drafted without holding public hearings or observing other procedural formalities. Only permanent regulations become part of the Nevada Administrative Code.

Permanent Regulations

A permanent regulation is “a regulation which is not an emergency regulation or a temporary regulation.” NRS 233B.036. Emergency and temporary regulations are exceptions to the general rules governing the adoption of permanent regulations. Since most emergency and temporary regulations become permanent regulations, anyone involved in the rulemaking process should be familiar with these rules.

Temporary Regulations

Except for the requirement that the Legislative Counsel review the proposed regulation before its adoption, the adoption of a temporary regulation requires the agency to follow the same steps applicable to the adoption of permanent regulations.

If the agency wishes to adopt a regulation, or amend or suspend¹² a permanent regulation between August 1 of an even-numbered year and July 1 of the succeeding odd-numbered year, it must adopt a temporary regulation. A regulation proposed during this time period may be adopted without first submitting it to the Legislative Counsel for review pursuant to NRS 233B.063(3) and 233B.064.¹³ Such a regulation expires by limitation on November 1st of the odd-numbered year. NRS 233B.063(3). The term also includes any other regulation which is effective for 120 days or less and is not an emergency regulation. NRS 233B.0385.

An agency wishing to adopt a temporary regulation must still have a workshop and a public hearing, but is not required to submit the temporary regulation to Legislative Counsel for review and drafting.

Except with respect to a temporary regulation that has been reviewed early by the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations, an agency may not file a temporary regulation with the Secretary of State until 35 days after the date on which the temporary regulation was adopted. NRS 233B.070(2). A temporary regulation becomes effective when the final version and a copy of the informational statement required by NRS 233B.066 is filed with the Secretary of State. Id. A copy of the final version and informational statement must also be filed with the Legislative Counsel. Id. Immediately after filing the temporary regulation with the Secretary of State, an agency must deliver a copy of the final version that bears the Secretary of State's stamp to the State Library and Archives Administrator for the public's use, as well as any material incorporated by reference that has not been filed previously. NRS 233B.070(6).

If an agency wishes to turn a temporary regulation into a permanent regulation, it should anticipate its expiration date and submit a permanent regulation to the Legislative Counsel in time enough to permit its review.¹⁴ With one exception,¹⁵ an agency adopting a permanent regulation to coincide with the expiration of a temporary regulation must notice and conduct a second workshop and public hearing. NRS 233B.060(2).

¹² The term "suspend" is used instead of "repeal" because a temporary regulation automatically expires unless a permanent regulation is subsequently adopted.

Emergency Regulations—NRS 233B.0613

Emergency regulations may be adopted quickly with few procedural requirements, but are effective for only 120 days.

Emergency regulations may be adopted and become effective immediately upon their filing with the Secretary of State. They are effective for a period of not longer than 120 days.

Although the term “emergency” is not defined in NRS chapter 233B, the Legislature has defined the term in Nevada’s Open Meeting Law, NRS chapter 241, for purposes of waiving the 3-day notice requirement for meetings of public bodies as “an unforeseen circumstance which requires immediate action and includes, but is not limited to . . . [d]isasters caused by fire, flood, earthquake or other natural causes or . . . [a]ny impairment of the health and safety of the public.” NRS 241.020(8).

An emergency regulation may be adopted only under the following circumstances:

1. The agency must submit to the Governor a written statement of the emergency and the reasons for that determination;
2. The Governor must endorse the statement of the emergency at the end of the full text of the statement on the original copy of the proposed regulation; and ¹⁴ The Legislative Counsel Bureau is required to complete its review of the proposed regulation within 30 days after it is submitted to it. NRS 233B.063(2). To allow for unanticipated delays, submit the rule for review at least 60 days before the expiration date of the temporary regulation.

¹⁵ The Public Utilities Commission of Nevada may adopt a substantively equivalent permanent regulation without further notice or hearing, but the language of the permanent regulation must first be approved or revised by the Legislative Counsel and approved by the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations. NRS 233B.060(3).

3. A copy of the regulation which includes the statement of emergency endorsed by the Governor, together with the informational statement required by NRS 233B.066¹⁶ and the Form for Filing Administrative Regulations, must be filed with the Secretary of State and the Legislative Counsel. The statement of emergency must be included in the emergency regulation for all purposes.

Before filing the emergency regulation with the Office of the Secretary of State, if feasible, the agency shall, not later than 9 a.m. on the first working day before the date on which the emergency regulation will be filed in the Office of the Secretary of State, make the emergency regulation available to the public by (a) providing a copy of the emergency regulation to a member of the public upon request and (b) posting a copy of the emergency regulation on the agency's website, if any. NRS 233B.0613.

Before conducting a hearing to consider the emergency regulation, if possible, the agency shall, not later than 9 a.m. on the first working day prior to the hearing, make the version of the proposed emergency regulation that will be considered at the hearing available to the public by (a) providing a copy of the emergency regulation to a member of the public upon request and (b) posting a copy of the emergency regulation on the agency's website, if any. NRS 233B.0613.

A regulation may be adopted by this emergency procedure only once. If an agency adopts a temporary or permanent regulation which becomes effective and is substantively identical to its effective emergency regulation, the emergency regulation expires automatically on the effective date of the temporary or permanent regulation. NRS 233B.0613.

¹⁶ The informational statement submitted with an emergency regulation need not include items relating to the conduct of a public hearing. NRS 233B.066(2).

➤ Impact on Small Businesses

Step 1:

Consider the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses, prepare a statement describing the method used to determine the impact, and if necessary, prepare a small business impact statement.

Before conducting a workshop on a proposed regulation, the agency must “make a concerted effort to” determine whether the regulation is likely to “[i]mpose a direct and significant economic burden upon a small business” or “[d]irectly restrict the formation, operation or expansion of a small business.” NRS 233B.0608(1). A small business is defined as a business conducted for profit that employs fewer than 150 full-time or part-time employees. NRS 233B.0382. If the agency concludes that the proposed regulation is likely to have such an impact, it must (1) “Insofar as practicable, consult with owners and officers of small businesses that are likely to be affected by the proposed regulation,” (2) “Conduct or cause to be conducted an analysis of the likely impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses,” (3) “Consider methods to reduce the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses,”¹⁷ and (4) “Prepare a small business impact statement and make copies of the statement available to the public not less than 15 days before the workshop conducted and the public hearing held pursuant to NRS 233B.061.” NRS 233B.0608(2). A copy of the small business impact statement must accompany the workshop notice and the notice and meeting agenda for the public hearing. Id.

The director, executive head or other person who is responsible for the agency shall sign the small business impact statement certifying that, to the best of his or her knowledge or belief, the information contained in the statement was prepared properly and is accurate. NRS 233B.0609(2). After adoption of the regulation, the small business impact statement and the accompanying statement identifying methods used to determine impact on small businesses and reasons for the agency’s conclusions as required in NRS 233B.0608(3), must accompany the text of the regulation submitted to the Legislative Counsel.

¹⁷ To reduce the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses an agency may (1) Simplify the proposed regulation, (2) Establish different standards of compliance for small businesses, and (3) Allow a small business to pay a lower fee or fine. NRS 233B.0608(2).

If the agency revises a regulation after preparing the small business impact statement and the statement made pursuant to NRS 233B.0608(3), the agency must include an explanation of the revision and the effect of the change on small business. NRS 233B.0608(4). In some cases, revisions to the regulation during the rulemaking process may require additional small business impact analysis to be conducted.

If the agency determines that a small business impact statement is required, the statement must include the following information pursuant to NRS 233B.0609:

1. A description of the manner in which comment was solicited from affected small businesses, a summary of their responses, and an explanation of the manner in which other interested persons may obtain a copy of the summary.
2. The manner in which the analysis was conducted.
3. The estimated economic effect of the proposed regulation on the small businesses which it is to regulate including, without limitation:
 - (a) Both adverse and beneficial effects; and
 - (b) Both direct and indirect effects.
4. A description of the methods that the agency considered to reduce the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses and a statement regarding whether the agency actually used any of those methods. See NRS 233B.0608(2)(b).
5. The estimated cost to the agency for enforcement of the proposed regulation.
6. If the proposed regulation provides a new fee or increases an existing fee, the total annual amount the agency expects to collect, and the manner in which the money will be used.
7. If the proposed regulation includes provisions which duplicate or are more stringent than federal, state, or local standards regulating the same activity, an explanation of why such duplicative or more stringent provisions are necessary.
8. The reasons for the conclusions of the agency regarding the impact of the regulation on small businesses.

A small business that is aggrieved by a regulation may object to all or a part of the regulation by filing a petition with the agency within 90 days after the date on which the regulation was adopted. Grounds for the petition may include: (1) the agency failed to prepare a required small business impact statement pursuant to NRS 233B.0608 and NRS 233B.0609; or (2) the small business impact statement prepared by the agency is inaccurate, incomplete, or did not adequately consider or significantly underestimated the economic effect of the regulation on small businesses. If the agency determines that the petition has merit, it may take action to amend the regulation. NRS 233B.105. All agencies that receive a petition filed pursuant to NRS 233B.105 must submit a copy of the petition to the Legislative Counsel for submission to the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations appointed pursuant to NRS 233B.067(6). NRS 233B.105(1).

If the agency has determined that the regulation is likely to impose a direct and significant economic burden on small businesses or directly restrict the formation, operation, or expansion of small businesses, a small business impact statement is required. NRS 233B.0608(2). Failure to include this statement or failure to include a complete and thorough small business impact statement may lead the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations, as applicable, to object to the regulation and the regulation will not become effective. NRS 233B.067(5)(d).

➤ Workshops

Step 2:
Conduct at least one workshop to discuss the general topic or topics covered by the proposed regulation.

Before conducting public hearings on the proposed regulation, the agency must conduct at least one workshop to solicit comments from interested persons on one or more general topics to be addressed in the proposed regulation. NRS 233B.061(2). At least fifteen (15) days in advance of the workshop,¹⁸ the agency must provide written notice of the time and place set for the workshop to every person on the agency's mailing list for receipt of notice of proposed regulations and such additional notice as will inform the general public and any business that may be affected by the proposed regulation.¹⁹ The notice must describe the general topics to be discussed at the workshop. At the same time that the agency provides notice of this workshop to the public, an electronic copy of this notice must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

¹⁸ When calculating the 15-day notice, the day of the workshop is not counted. In addition, like other Open Meeting Law notices, the notice must be posted by 9 a.m. on the required day. For example, if an agency plans to hold its workshop on September 16th, the workshop notice must be posted by 9 a.m. on September 1st.

The statute specifies neither the form of the notice nor the procedure to be used in conducting the workshop. It seems clear, however, the workshop is intended to provide interested persons with a reasonable opportunity to meet informally with agency staff to discuss the general subject matter of the regulation proposed to be adopted. See NRS 233B.061(1).

An agency may conduct a workshop at the earliest stages of its consideration of a proposed regulation. The statute does not require the agency to have drafted language for the proposal at the time it conducts a workshop. It is therefore permissible for an agency to conduct a workshop to discuss the general subjects to be addressed in a regulation to be drafted in the future. See NRS 233B.061(2).

It is also permissible for an agency to conduct the workshop after it has drafted and received the proposed regulation draft from Legislative Counsel. To simplify the procedure in this situation, the agency may plan for the workshop at the same time it plans for the public hearing. That way, the agency may provide the formal notice of public hearing at the same time and in the same manner as the notice of workshop.²⁰ Notice of the workshop could consist of a letter or statement describing the purpose of the meeting and the general topics to be discussed. An example of such a notice is included in Appendix C.²¹ The agency may not, however, hold the public hearing on the same day that it holds the workshop. NRS 233B.061(4). The agency also may not notice its public hearing until after it has received the proposed regulation drafted by Legislative Counsel. NRS 233B.060(1)(a).

¹⁹ For example, an agency proposing a regulation that will affect a regulated industry should probably provide some means of written notice to all persons in the industry licensed by the agency.

²⁰ Please note that, pursuant to NRS 233B.060(1), the agency may not notice its public hearing until after the agency receives an approved or revised draft of the proposed regulation from the Legislative Counsel. Therefore, if the agency chooses to notice its public hearing at the same time as its workshop, the agency must receive an approved or revised draft of the proposed regulation before providing the notice.

²¹ Please note that the sample notice in Appendix C may not meet all requirements of the Open Meeting Law found in NRS Chapter 241. Please be sure to modify this notice to comply with NRS Chapter 241 or prepare a separate agenda. See NRS 233B.061(5). See also Nevada Open Meeting Law Manual, published by the Nevada Attorney General's Office online at <http://ag.nv.gov/>.

All workshops must be conducted in accordance with Nevada's Open Meeting Law, NRS Chapter 241. NRS 233B.061(5). This means, at a minimum, there must be an agenda (which is properly posted and complies with all of the Open Meeting Law's agenda requirements), the workshop must be recorded, and minutes must be kept. See NRS Chapter 241. See also Nevada Open Meeting Law Manual, published by the Nevada Attorney General's Office online at <http://ag.nv.gov/>. An electronic copy of the agenda for the workshop must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau and posted on both the State's official website and the agency's website.²²

The written minutes of the agency's workshop should include the date, time, and place of the workshop, those members of the agency and public who were present, the substance of the discussion at the workshop, including the name of each speaker, any written comment submitted to the agency, and any other information which is requested to become part of the record. NRS 241.035. The agency should also include in its informational statement a section describing each workshop conducted.

The minutes of the workshop are a public record and must be available for public inspection. See NRS 241.035(2). The minutes or audiotape recording of the workshop must be available for public inspection within thirty (30) working days after adjournment of the workshop. Id. The minutes should be included in the agency's file for the regulation and must be retained for at least five (5) years. Id. The agency may impose a reasonable fee to cover the cost of providing copies of the minutes to a party requesting them. See NRS 239.052.

The audiotape or written transcript of the workshop must be retained for at least one (1) year after the meeting and, like the minutes, is a public record that must be available for inspection by the public. See NRS 241.035(4).

²² In 2013, the Legislature added a provision to NRS Chapter 232, which requires all state agencies to post all notices required pursuant to the Open Meeting Law as specified in NRS 241.020 to the State's official website. See NRS 232.2175.

➤ The Drafting Process

Step 3:

Draft the regulation or determine the scope and subject of the areas needing regulation changes.

Every regulation adopted by an agency must include a citation of the authority pursuant to which it, or any part of it, was adopted, the address of the agency, and an explanation of any procedures for obtaining clarification of the regulation or relief from the strict application of its terms, if the agency is authorized by specific statute to grant such relief. NRS 233B.040(2).

The basic criteria for the mechanics of form and style for administrative regulations are those set forth in NRS 233B.062: accessibility, clarity, and conciseness. Beyond this, since the Legislature has prescribed a single administrative code, it is appropriate to be consistent in the language that is used throughout the chapter. Thus, while there may well be two or more ways of expressing a particular thought which are equally clear and concise, one should be chosen and followed throughout the code. In making these choices, the NRS form is usually followed because there is an advantage to the user inherent in consistency between the regulations and the statutes.

Every permanent regulation must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel who shall examine and, if appropriate, revise the language submitted so that it meets these criteria. NRS 233B.063(1).²³ Those charged with the responsibility of initially drafting the language for the proposed regulation should, however, follow these general guidelines.

Sections

1. All regulations are divided into sections numbered consecutively from 1. For the first section, “Section 1.” is written out. The abbreviation “Sec.” is used for succeeding sections.
2. Because lengthy sections are typically unwieldy for readers, sections should be short and address specific topics. Several sections can be related by including internal references or by subheads outside the body of the sections.

3. The internal arrangement of a section is the same as used in NRS.

1. Subsection

(a) Paragraph.

(1) Subparagraph.

(I) Sub-Subparagraph. (Designated by Roman numerals)

4. Do not assign numbers for codification to new sections or renumber sections already codified in the Nevada Administrative Code. The Legislative Counsel assigns the section numbers when the regulation is incorporated into the Nevada Administrative Code. It is appropriate, however, to make suggestions regarding placement of sections.

5. A new section to be added to a chapter in the Nevada Administrative Code should have the following prefatory language:

Chapter ___ of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

If two or three new sections are added:

Chapter ___ of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections ___ and ___ of this regulation.

Chapter ___ of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections ___, ___ and ___ of this regulation.

If four or more new sections are added:

Chapter ___ of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto the provisions set forth as sections ___ to ___, inclusive, of this regulation.

The language of a new section being added to the Nevada Administrative Code should be italicized and the font should be changed to a color other than black. Do not italicize the number of the section. Example:

Sec. 3. A contractor may . . .

6. If a section in the Nevada Administrative Code is being amended, the prefatory language is:

NAC ___ is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. If a section is being repealed, the prefatory language is:

NAC ___ is hereby repealed.

If more than one section is repealed, all the repealed sections should be listed in numerical order in one section. Always make sure, particularly in a large regulation, that you do not repeal a section you are also amending in the same regulation.

8. To amend a section from the Nevada Administrative Code, material to be deleted should be placed in brackets and new material italicized. New material should follow a set of brackets. For example:

The board's ~~{standards}~~ procedural regulations shall control the conduct of ~~{disciplinary hearings}~~ all formal proceedings.

Generally, punctuation should be added after the closing bracket. The exceptions are that an added period should precede the brackets and when punctuation alone is being added, such a change should also be placed before the brackets. Examples:

. . . Fine ~~{or}~~, revocation or probation.

. . . issuance of a license . ~~{or renewal.}~~

For clarity, if there are only one or two words between two sets of brackets, all the language should be included in one set of brackets. For example:

[Such] These contracts [shall] must include [provision] provisions for the . . .

Definitions

1. A definition should be used only for a word which is used in a sense different from its natural meaning or whose meaning is extended or limited for the purposes of the regulation or chapter in which it occurs. Do not define a word which does not occur in the regulation or chapter.
2. A definition must only define the word or term and must not contain any substantive provisions.
3. If a word is defined in NRS, it should be used in the same sense in any related regulations. NRS 0.024 provides that, with certain exceptions, “if a word or term is defined for use in a particular title or chapter of the Nevada Revised Statutes or in a particular subpart thereof, the word or term has the same meaning in the corresponding title or chapter of the Nevada Administrative Code or in the corresponding subpart thereof, as applicable.” Therefore, it is unnecessary to duplicate definitions in NRS in the corresponding chapter of NAC and Legislative Counsel will remove any such duplication when reviewing and drafting an agency’s proposed regulation. It may be helpful or necessary to reference a NRS definition that is not in the same chapter. For example, in a licensing board’s NAC chapter, it may be helpful to reference the definition of controlled substance as it relates to unprofessional conduct. An example of referencing this definition would be adding a NAC provision to that licensing board’s chapter that says: “Controlled substance” has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 0.031.

Common Terms of Art

1. A command is expressed by “shall,” a prohibition by “shall not.” “No person shall” is not acceptable usage. Use “shall” when a duty to act is imposed. Remember that only persons and other legal entities can perform a duty. See NRS 0.025.
2. Use “must” to express a requirement when:
 - (a) The subject is a thing. For example: “The application must be accompanied by a fee of . . .”
 - (b) The subject is a natural person and the verb is in the passive voice. For example: “A licensee whose bond has expired must be . . .”
 - (c) The subject is a natural person and only a condition precedent and not a duty is imposed. For example: “A person who desires to be licensed must file an application . . .”
See NRS 0.025.

3. Permissive conduct is expressed by “may.” See NRS 0.025. For example: “The Board may fine a licensee not more than $5,000 per violation.”
4. A regulating authority cannot command itself. If the agency intends to promise that it will act in a certain way, the appropriate phrase is, for example, “The Board will . . .”
5. The following is a partial list of words and phrases that should be avoided:
 - “individual” as a noun, instead use “person”
 - “prior to,” instead use “before”
 - “such,” unless it means “of this kind” or is followed by “as” or “that”
 - “due to,” instead use “because of”
 - “duly”
 - “herein”
 - “professional” as a noun
 - “implement” as a verb, instead use “carry out”
 - “utilize,” instead use “use”
6. Use verbs in their simplest and most active form. For example: Instead of using “give consideration to” use “consider,” instead of using “have knowledge of” use “know,” and instead of using “make payment” use “pay.”
7. Do not use jargon. Words used in a regulation should be found in the dictionary. A common fault of contemporary speech and writing is the stringing together of nouns when all but the last are being used as adjectives, as in “health care delivery system.” Use prepositions to avoid this (“system for delivery of health care”) or define the term in the proposed regulation.
8. In 2009, the Legislative Counsel was required to make the Nevada Revised Statutes and the Nevada Administrative Code gender neutral. Thus, gender neutral language should be used such as “he or she” or “persons.” Non-gender specific terms are also appropriate such as “applicant” or “licensee” and may aid the drafter in achieving general neutral language in the regulation. See NRS 0.030.
9. Always use the singular number unless only the plural applies. See NRS 0.030.

10. Do not use redundant language. A provision of a regulation which repeats the provisions of a statute, verbatim or in substance, is not void, but it is redundant and will conflict with the statute if the statute is subsequently amended or repealed. Therefore, a regulation should contain no text covered by a statute. Portions of proposed regulations that repeat statutory provisions will be deleted by Legislative Counsel.

Material Incorporated by Reference

NRS 233B.040 authorizes the adoption by reference of material published by another authority. A regulation which incorporates such material must state where a copy of the material may be obtained and how much it costs. The agency is required to file a copy of the material incorporated by reference with the Secretary of State and the State Library and Archives Administrator. In addition, a copy of the material should accompany the adopted regulation filed with the Legislative Counsel. The Legislative Counsel will file the regulation with the Secretary of State. When the agency files a copy of the adopted regulation with the State Library and Archives Administrator, a copy of the material incorporated by reference must accompany the regulation.

Typical Order of Sections in a Regulation

Chapters and sections should be amended in numerical order. New sections added to a chapter are placed before amended sections for that chapter. If definitions are added with other new sections, the definitions appear before the substantive provisions. The following is an outline of the typical order of sections in a regulation:

1. New sections for a particular chapter.
 - (a) Definitions, listed alphabetically.
 - (b) Substantive provisions.
2. Amended sections in that same chapter in numerical order.
3. If applicable, new sections for another chapter, in numerical order.
4. Amended sections for that chapter, in numerical order.
5. Repealed sections in numerical order.
6. Effective date. (This is rarely used in a regulation. Normally, the regulations become effective upon filing.)

➤ Notice of Intent to Adopt Regulations

Step 4:
Prepare and post the notice of intent to act upon regulations.

Except in the case of emergency regulations, before adopting, amending, or repealing any permanent or temporary regulation, and before adopting a temporary regulation as a permanent regulation, the agency must give at least 30 days' notice²⁴ of its intended action unless a shorter period of time is specifically permitted by statute. With respect to permanent regulations, notice may not be given until after the agency receives the approved or revised text of the proposed regulation from the Legislative Counsel. NRS 233B.060(1). At the same time that the agency provides this notice to the public, an electronic copy of the agency's Notice of Intent to Adopt Regulations must also be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

The notice of intent to act upon a regulation must include the following pursuant to NRS 233B.0603:

1. A statement of the need for and purpose of the proposed regulation;
2. If the regulation is a temporary one, either the text of the proposed rule or a description of the substance of the rule and the subjects and issues involved. If the regulation is a permanent one, a statement explaining how to obtain the approved or revised text of the proposed regulation prepared by the Legislative Counsel pursuant to NRS 233B.063;
3. A statement of the estimated economic effect of the regulation on the business which it is to regulate and on the public. These must be stated separately and in each case must include both adverse and beneficial effects and both immediate and long-term effects;
4. A statement identifying the methods used by the agency in determining the impact on a small business prepared pursuant to subsection 3 of NRS 233B.0608;

²⁴ When calculating the 30-day notice, the day of the public hearing is not counted. In addition, like other Open Meeting Law notices, the notice must be posted by 9 a.m. on the required day. For example, if an agency plans to hold its public hearing on September 30th, the public hearing notice must be posted by 9 a.m. August 31st.

5. The estimated cost to the agency for enforcement of the proposed regulation;
6. A description of any regulations of other state or local governmental agencies which the proposed regulation overlaps or duplicates and a statement explaining why the duplication or overlapping is necessary, if the regulation overlaps or duplicates a federal regulation, the name of the regulating federal agency;
7. If the regulation is required pursuant to federal law, a citation and description of the federal law;
8. If the regulation includes provisions which are more stringent than a federal regulation that regulates the same activity, a summary of those provisions;
9. The date, time, and place where, and the manner in which, interested persons may present their views on the proposed regulation;
10. All addresses where the text of the rule may be inspected and copied;
11. The exact language of subsection 2 of NRS 233B.064;²⁵ and
12. A statement indicating whether the regulation establishes any new fee or increases an existing fee.

Pursuant to NRS 233B.0603(2), the Attorney General has adopted a regulation, NAC 233B.010, that specifies the form of notice to be used in rulemaking. A copy of this form is included in Appendix B of this Manual and should be used in all cases to provide the required notice of rulemaking. Because this form does not satisfy the Open Meeting Law requirements for an agenda, a separate agenda for the public hearing must also be prepared. See NRS 233B.061(5). See also Nevada Open Meeting Law Manual, published by the Nevada Attorney General's Office online at <http://ag.nv.gov/>.

²⁵ NRS 233B.064(2) provides: "Upon adoption of any regulation, the agency, if requested to do so by an interested person, either before adoption or within 30 days thereafter, shall issue a concise statement of the principal reasons for and against its adoption, and incorporate therein its reason for overruling the consideration urged against its adoption."

At the time of giving the notice, the agency must deposit one copy of the notice and text of the proposed regulation with the State Library and Archives Administrator and keep at least one copy in each of its offices from the date of the notice to the date of the hearing for inspection and copying by the public. The agency must also deposit one copy of the notice and text of the proposed regulation with the librarian of the main public library in any county where the agency does not maintain an office. NRS 233B.0607(1). The text of the proposed regulation must include the entire text of any section of the Nevada Administrative Code which is proposed for amendment or repeal. NRS 233B.0607(2). A copy of the notice must also be provided to the Legislative Counsel Bureau for inclusion in the Register of Administrative Regulations. NRS 233B.0603(1)(f).

Agencies have an affirmative duty to solicit comment on their proposed regulations. NRS 233B.0603(3) requires the agency to “solicit comment generally from the public and from businesses to be affected by the proposed regulation.” In addition, agencies must maintain mailing lists of persons who have requested in writing that they be informed of proposed regulations and mail the notice of intent to act upon the regulation to all persons on the list. NRS 233B.0603(1)(e). As a general rule, the more notice provided, the better. At a minimum, the notice should be posted at all of the agency’s office locations and provided to public libraries as required by NRS 233B.0607(1). Notices may also be posted at other public or private places, such as courthouses, the offices of businesses or professional associations, and other groups that will be affected by the regulation.

➤ The Public Hearing

Step 5:

Receive oral comments about the proposed regulation at a public hearing.

At the time and place set for hearing on the proposed regulation, the agency must afford “[a]ll interested parties . . . a reasonable opportunity to submit data, views or arguments upon a proposed regulation.” NRS 233B.061(1). “[T]he agency shall set a time and place for an oral public hearing.” NRS 233B.061(3). Alternatively, parties may submit their views in writing. Id. Both oral and written submissions regarding the proposed regulation must be considered fully. Id.

If the agency adopting the regulation is a board or commission, the public hearing to receive public comments may be scheduled immediately before the open meeting of the board or commission to consider those comments and act upon the regulation. The public hearing should be conducted by the board or commission, not staff.

The agency must set a deadline in the notice of hearing for the submission of written comments. In the case of regulations expected to be adopted on the same day as the public hearing, that deadline should be set a reasonable time before the hearing to permit those acting on the proposed regulations to consider the comments prior to adoption. The agency may extend the time for receipt of written comments, as necessary. The person conducting the hearing could, for example, permit the submission of written testimony at the hearing itself or within a timeframe set by the agency beyond the date of the hearing. This would be especially appropriate if the agency does not intend to consider all public comments and act on the regulation on the same day as that scheduled for receipt of oral comments.

Record of the Public Hearing

All public hearings must be conducted in accordance with Nevada's Open Meeting Law, NRS Chapter 241. NRS 233B.061(5). This means, at a minimum, there must be an agenda (which is properly posted and complies with all of the Open Meeting Law's agenda requirements), the hearing must be recorded, and minutes must be kept. At the same time that the agency posts the public hearing agenda according to the Open Meeting Law, an electronic copy of the public hearing agenda must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel Bureau and posted on both the State's official website and the agency's website.²⁶

The minutes of the hearing are a public record and must be available for public inspection. The minutes or audiotape recording of the hearing must be made available for public inspection within 30 working days after adjournment of the hearing. The minutes should be included in the agency's file for the regulation and must be retained for at least five (5) years. NRS 241.035(2). The agency may impose a reasonable fee to cover the cost of providing copies of the minutes to a party requesting them. See NRS 239.052.

The audiotape or written transcript must be retained for at least one year after the meeting and, like the minutes, is a public record that must be available for inspection by the public. See NRS 241.035(4).

²⁶ In 2013, the Legislature added a provision to NRS Chapter 232, which requires all state agencies to post all notices required pursuant to the Open Meeting Law as specified in NRS 241.020 to the State's official website. See NRS 232.2175.

The minutes of the public hearing must include:

1. The date, time, and place of the hearing.
2. Those members of the public body who were present and those who were absent. In the case of an agency headed by a single person, the names of all agency staff members present, including the agency head, if applicable.
3. In the case of a public body, the substance of all matters proposed, discussed or decided and, at the request of any member, a record of each member's vote on any matter decided by vote.
4. The substance of remarks made by any member of the general public who addresses the public body or agency if the member of the general public requests that the minutes reflect those remarks or, if the member of the general public has prepared written remarks, a copy of the prepared remarks if the member of the general public submits a copy for inclusion.
5. Any other information which any member of the public body, or the agency head or his or her designee, requests to be included or reflected in the minutes.
See NRS 241.035(1).

Conduct of the Public Hearing

The agency conducting the hearing to receive public comments on a proposed regulation should consider the following guidelines:

1. Identify yourself and the agency proposing the regulation;
2. Explain the substance of the regulation and the subjects and issues involved. Make extra copies of the proposed regulation available for inspection;
3. Explain the procedure by which attendees may inspect the record relating to the rulemaking proceeding or obtain a copy of the regulation as finally adopted;

4. Explain that the purpose of the hearing is to receive comments on the proposed regulation;
5. Inform attendees of any extensions granted and the deadline for submission of additional written comments;
6. Request that all attendees sign-in on a written sign-in sheet, including their name and affiliation, if any; and
7. Request that all persons desiring to speak provide their name and affiliation when speaking.

➤ Consideration of Public Comments

Step 6:

Fully consider the comments received from the public and businesses affected by the proposed regulation.

The person or body with the authority to adopt the regulation must “consider fully” all oral and written comments received. NRS 233B.061(3). In some cases, it may be possible to conduct the hearing on the regulation contemporaneously with the public meeting of the board or commission called to consider and take action on the regulation. Since the members of the board or commission will have been present for the taking of public comments and may review any written comments previously submitted, this would appear to be an efficient means of complying with this requirement. Provided the meeting of the board or commission has been noticed in accordance with the Open Meeting Law, the board or commission may act immediately on any suggested changes to the rule offered by a member of the public, the industry affected, or a member of the board or commission although any substantive changes made to the regulation in this manner must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel prior to adoption pursuant to NRS 233B.063(2).

Written comments may simply be provided to the board to review at or before a public meeting called for the purpose of discussing the public comment and considering adoption of the rule. The board may be provided with a copy of the minutes, audio recording or written transcript of the hearing held to receive oral comments.

Alternatively, the board may be provided with a report, in oral or written form, of the substance of the comments received at the hearing.

Boards or commissions considering the public comments on proposed regulations should retain in the minutes a record of their discussion regarding the public comment and their reasons for either amending the proposed rule in response to the comments or adopting the rule without change. Persons with rulemaking authority who are not subject to the Open Meeting Law may consider the public comment in private. Such persons shall include a discussion of the public comments received, whether or not the regulation was changed based on public comment, and reasons for changing or deciding not to change the regulation in the agency's informational statement concerning the regulation. NRS 233B.066. However, such persons still must adopt the regulations at a public meeting that has been agendized and properly noticed as required by the Open Meeting Law.

➤ Final Adoption

Step 7:

Adopt the regulation in a properly noticed public meeting and file the original with the Legislative Counsel. Upon its filing with the Secretary of State by the Legislative Counsel, file a conformed copy with the State Library and Archives Administrator.

The final step in the rulemaking process is the adoption of the regulation. At this point the regulation will have been reviewed and revised, if necessary, by the Legislative Counsel and perhaps changed as the result of public comment.²⁷ The original, final copy of the regulation must now be filed with the Legislative Counsel together with the informational statement required by NRS 233B.066, the form for filing administrative regulations, and the form Notice of Adoption of Regulation, a copy of which is attached as Appendix F. After adoption by the agency or public body, the regulation must be reviewed and approved by the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations. At the same time that an agency provides notice of its meeting to adopt a proposed regulation, the agency must provide an electronic copy of that notice to the Legislative Counsel Bureau.²⁸ If the adoption of the regulation is scheduled for the same day as the public hearing, this notice may have already been given at the time the public hearing notice was provided. However, if the agency decides to adopt the regulation at a separate public meeting, it must send an ²⁷ Remember, that if the changes made to the regulation as a result of public comment are made after the Legislative Counsel has drafted the regulation and if these changes are substantive, the agency will need to resubmit the regulation to the Legislative Counsel for review and the agency will receive a “revised proposed” regulation from Legislative Counsel. The agency will then need to post the “revised proposed” regulation for 30 days and hold a second public hearing prior to adoption.

²⁸ This notice may be a public meeting agenda for a public body wherein the adoption of the regulation is a topic on the regular public meeting of the agency. For agencies with a single-person head, such as an administrator or department head, the adoption meeting should still be publicly noticed; however, the meeting and required agenda is likely to be a lot shorter given that the adoption will likely not be part of a regular public meeting of the agency.

electronic copy of the adoption meeting agenda to the Legislative Counsel Bureau, as well as posting the adoption meeting agenda on both the State's official website and the agency's website.²⁹

Informational Statement

Pursuant to NRS 233B.066, the informational statement must contain the following:

1. A clear and concise explanation of the need for the adopted regulation;
2. A description of how public comment was solicited, a summary of public response, and an explanation of how other interested persons may obtain a copy of the summary;

Unless the statement is supplied, the Legislative Counsel will not submit the regulation to the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations, as applicable, and the regulation will not become effective. NRS 233B.0665.

Statement Identifying Methods Used to Determine Impact on Small Businesses and Reasons for the Agency’s Conclusions

The agency must prepare a statement identifying the methods used by the agency in determining the impact of a proposed regulation on a small business and the reasons for the conclusions of the agency. NRS 233B.0608(3). This statement must be signed by “[t]he director, executive head or other person who is responsible for the agency . . . certifying that, to the best of his or her knowledge or belief, a concerted effort was made to determine the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses and that the information contained in the statement is accurate.” Id.

The statement identifying the methods used by the agency in determining the proposed regulation’s impact on small businesses and reasons for the agency’s conclusions is required even if the agency has determined that a small business impact statement is unnecessary after completing the analysis required in NRS 233B.0608(2). Further, an agency must update this statement to re-evaluate and address the impact of the regulation on small business if the regulation is changed throughout the rulemaking process. NRS 233B.0608(4). If this statement is not included with the final regulation or if the statement provided is not complete, the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations, as applicable, may object to the regulation and the regulation will not become effective. NRS 233B.067(5)(d).

Effective Date

A regulation usually becomes effective upon filing with the Secretary of State.

If after submitting the regulation to the Legislative Commission for review, there is no question as to conformity of the regulation to legislative authority and intent,³⁰ the Legislative Counsel will promptly file the final, adopted regulation with the Secretary of State. A permanent regulation becomes effective when the Legislative Counsel files the final version that has been approved by the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations with the Secretary of State unless a statute prescribes a specific time when the regulation becomes effective or a later date is specified in the regulation.

Except with respect to a temporary regulation that has been reviewed early by the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations, an agency may not file a temporary regulation with the Secretary of State until 35 days after the date on which the temporary regulation was adopted. A temporary regulation becomes effective when the final version together with the informational statement is filed by the agency with the Secretary of State. A copy of the final version of a temporary regulation together with the informational statement must also be filed by the agency with the Legislative Counsel.

Immediately after each permanent or temporary regulation is filed with the Secretary of State, the agency must deliver one copy of the final draft or revision bearing the stamp of the Secretary of State indicating that it has been filed, including material adopted by reference which is not already filed with the State Library and Archives Administrator, to the State Library and Archives Administrator for use by the public. NRS 233B.070(6).

If the agency is a licensing board as defined in NRS 439B.225 and it has adopted a permanent regulation relating to standards for the issuing or renewing of licenses, permits or certificates of registration issued to a person or facility regulated by the agency, the agency shall also deliver one copy of the regulation, bearing the stamp of the Secretary of State, to the Legislative Committee on Health Care within ten (10) days after the regulation is filed with the Secretary of State. NRS 233B.070(6).³¹ The submission of the regulation to the Legislative Committee on Health Care also occurs when the Legislative Counsel returns the proposed regulation to the agency. The Legislative Committee on Health Care may object to the regulation as drafted causing the regulation to be redrafted with the Committee's input.

³¹ Pursuant to NRS 439B.225, the Legislative Committee on Health Care is required to review "each regulation that a licensing board [as defined in NRS 439B.225(1)] proposes or adopts that relates to standards for the issuance or renewal of licenses, permits or certificates of registration issued to a person or facility regulated by the board" (Emphasis added). Depending on the timing of the meetings of the Legislative Committee on Health Care, as regulation may be reviewed by the Committee at the proposed or adopted stage.

➤ Legislative Review

Pre-Adoption Review

The agency must deliver a copy of the proposed rule to the Legislative Counsel³² after a workshop.³³ NRS 233B.060; NRS 233B.063. The Legislative Counsel, pursuant to NRS 233B.063, must review the regulation to determine if the language is clear, concise, and suitable for incorporation in the Nevada Administrative Code. While NRS 233B.063 prohibits the Legislative Counsel from altering the meaning or effect of the regulation without the consent of the adopting agency, this may occur inadvertently because some regulations are very technical and the person reviewing the regulation may not be familiar with the subject matter. If this occurs, the Legislative Counsel should be notified and the problem discussed and resolved.

At the start of the agency's rulemaking process, a draft of the regulation must be sent to the Legislative Counsel for review.

If the regulation is changed substantively after this initial review by the Legislative Counsel, for example, changes made due to public comment at the public hearing, it must be resubmitted to the Legislative Counsel again for review and a “revised proposed” regulation will be returned to the agency. NRS 233B.063(2). In such a situation, the agency must again post the regulation for thirty (30) days and hold a second public hearing on the new language prior to adoption of the regulation.

The Legislative Counsel must return the regulation with appropriate revisions within thirty (30) days. Id. Agencies whose budgets are not supported entirely from the State General Fund will be required to pay the cost of review and revision. NRS 233B.0635.

³² If the regulation is submitted to the Legislative Counsel for review, either initially or as the result of substantive changes made to it after its initial review, between July 1 of an even-numbered year and July 1 of an odd-numbered year, it must be adopted as a temporary regulation. NRS 233B.063(2).

³³ The agency may also deliver a copy of the proposed rule to the Legislative Counsel before a workshop, if the text is already drafted. However, given that the text of the regulation may change as a result of the workshop or new provisions may be added, it is often advisable to send the copy of the proposed regulation to the Legislative Counsel after the agency holds at least one workshop.

Although a proposed permanent regulation is usually reviewed by the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations after the agency adopts it, the Legislative Commission may request an early review of the regulation after the agency has given its notice of a hearing on the regulation but before the public hearing is held. It may also waive its review in the case of administrative convenience or necessity. NRS 233B.0681.

It is important to note that an agency must adopt a proposed regulation not later than two (2) years after the date on which the proposed regulation is submitted to the Legislative Counsel pursuant to NRS 233B.063(1). If an agency does not adopt a proposed regulation within two (2) years of this date, the executive head of the agency shall appear personally before the Legislative Commission and explain why the proposed regulation has not been adopted. NRS 233B.040(4).

Post-Adoption Review

After a regulation has been adopted, the agency must submit a copy, together with the informational statement required by NRS 233B.066 and the Form for Filing Administrative Regulations, to the Legislative Counsel. If the agency submits an adopted regulation which it is required to adopt pursuant to a federal statute or regulation and the regulation exceeds the agency's specific statutory authority or sets forth requirements that are more stringent than a statute of this state, the agency must include a statement that adoption of the regulation is required by federal statute or regulation and include a citation to the federal statute or regulation involved. NRS 233B.067.

Pursuant to NRS 233B.067, the Legislative Commission must review the regulation to determine whether to approve it, and the Legislative Commission must approve the regulation before it becomes effective.³⁴ The Legislative Commission will either review the regulation at its next scheduled meeting³⁵ or refer it to the ³⁴ To avoid any difficulty after adoption, the Legislative Counsel has in practice conducted this examination during its review of the proposed regulation. If the Legislative Counsel believes there is a question whether the substance of a regulation conforms to legislative authority and intent, this question is discussed and resolved with the agency as soon as possible.

³⁵ To be included on the next Legislative Commission meeting agenda, the agency must file the regulation at least 10 working days before the next scheduled meeting of the Commission. If the agency files the regulation less than 10 working days before the next scheduled meeting of the Commission, the regulation will be on the subsequent Legislative Commission meeting's agenda.

Subcommittee to Review Regulations.³⁶ If an emergency requires the regulation to become effective before the Legislative Commission is able to review and approve it, the agency may inform the Legislative Counsel in writing and the regulation will be referred to the Subcommittee to Review Regulations for its review and approval as soon as practicable. NRS 233B.067(4).

Affirmative action by the Legislative Commission or the Subcommittee to Review Regulations is required to approve or object to a regulation. If no action is taken by the Commission or Subcommittee, the regulation does not become effective.

Legislative Objection to Regulations

Although in the majority of cases any questions regarding an agency's statutory authority to adopt a regulation are resolved informally with the Legislative Counsel before adoption of the regulation, the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations may object to a permanent regulation after its adoption, in which case it does not become effective, if it determines that:

1. In the case of a regulation purportedly required by federal law, the regulation is not required by federal law;
2. The regulation does not conform to statutory authority;
3. The small business impact statement is inaccurate, incomplete, or did not adequately consider or significantly underestimated the economic effect of the regulation on small businesses;
4. The regulation does not carry out legislative intent; or
5. The agency has not provided a satisfactory explanation of the need for the regulation in its informational statement as required pursuant to NRS 233B.066, or the informational statement is insufficient or incomplete.

³⁶ The Subcommittee to Review Regulations is appointed by the Legislative Commission after each legislative session and consists of at least three members or alternate members of the Legislative Commission. NRS 233B.067(6).

NRS 233B.067(5).³⁷ If the Legislative Commission or Subcommittee to Review Regulations objects to a regulation on one of these grounds, the agency must revise the regulation and return it to the Legislative Counsel within 60 days after the agency receives written notice of the objection. The regulation does not become effective until the Commission or Subcommittee approves the regulation and the Legislative Counsel files the regulation with the Secretary of State and notifies the agency of the filing. NRS 233B.0675.

For re-adoption of a revised regulation to which there has been an objection, a public body is only required to provide the notice of at least three (3) working days required under the Open Meeting Law. See NRS 241.020.

➤ Maintenance of Regulations

Availability

Each agency must maintain a copy of its regulations and must furnish a copy of its regulations to any person who requests a copy. NRS 233B.050(1)(b). The agency may charge a reasonable fee for the copy based on the cost of reproduction. See NRS 239.052.

If the agency publishes any regulations included in the Nevada Administrative Code, it must use the exact text of the regulation as it appears in the Code, including the lead lines and numbers of the sections. Any other material that an agency includes in a publication with its regulations must be presented in a form which clearly distinguishes that material from the regulations.

³⁷ Legislative objection to regulations is the result of voter approval of Ballot Question 5, an amendment to Section 1 of Article 3 of the Nevada Constitution approved by the voters in 1996.

Periodic Review

NRS 233B.050(1)(d) requires every agency subject to its terms to review its rules of practice at least once every three years and file with the Secretary of State a statement setting forth the date on which the most recent review of those rules was completed and describing any revisions made as a result of the review.

It is recommended that every agency review all its regulations after the close of every legislative session to identify regulations requiring amendments in order to comport with changes in the law and that the agency complies with legislative directives to adopt new regulations in specific areas. However, this review is required only every ten (10) years. NRS 233B.050(1)(e). The purpose of this comprehensive review is to determine whether any regulations should be amended or repealed. Id. Within thirty (30) days after completion of its complete review of all its regulations, the agency must submit a report to the Legislative Counsel for distribution to the next regular session of the Legislature. The report must include the date on which the agency completed its review and describe any regulations that the agency has identified as requiring amendment or repeal as a result of the review. The Legislative Counsel will include the date of the last review in the Nevada Administrative Code. NRS 233B.065(2). A form for this review is included as Appendix H with this Manual.

Register of Administrative Regulations— NRS 233B.0653

The Legislative Counsel maintains a Register of Administrative Regulations containing the following information regarding each permanent regulation adopted by an agency:

1. The proposed and adopted text of the regulation and any revised version of the regulation;
2. The Notice of Intent to Act upon a proposed regulation required by NRS 233B.0603;
3. The written notice of adoption of the regulation required by NRS 233B.064;
4. The Informational Statement required by NRS 233B.066; and
5. The effective date of the regulation, as determined pursuant to NRS 233B.070.

The register is distributed to and maintained by:

1. The Secretary of State;
2. The Attorney General;
3. The Supreme Court Law Library;
4. The State Library and Archives;
5. Each county clerk;
6. Each county library; and
7. The Legislative Counsel Bureau.

The register is also published and available on the Internet at <http://www.leg.state.nv.us>. See NRS 233B.0656.

Electronic Posting of Regulation Notices on Legislative Counsel Bureau Website

In 2013, the Nevada Legislature added the following provision to NRS Chapter 233B:

At the same time that an agency provides notice of any meeting or workshop relating to the adoption or a proposed regulation, the agency shall submit an electronic copy of the notice to the Director of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The Director shall cause the notice to be posted on the same day on the Internet website maintained by the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

Information regarding this website is currently unavailable at the time of the publishing of this manual. Users are encouraged to look for more information on the Nevada Legislature's website at <http://www.leg.state.nv.us>.

Stat. 482), effective May 19, 2009, directed the Legislative Counsel Bureau to make such changes as necessary so that the Nevada Revised Statutes and Nevada Administrative Code are gender neutral.

SB 367 (Act of May 31, 2007, ch. 248, 2007 Nev. An agency may not conduct a workshop on the same day as the public hearing on the proposed regulation. SB 491 (Act of May 31, 2007, ch. 255, 2007 Nev. Stat. 906), effective July 1, 2007, requires that language in the Nevada Administrative Code that refers to persons with physical, mental, or cognitive disabilities is to be respectful and refer to the person before referring to his disability.

Legislation enacted during the 2003 and 2005 sessions of the Nevada Legislature required the following changes to the process of adopting administrative regulations: SB 329 (Act of June 9, 2003, ch. 358, 2003 Nev. Stat. 2003), effective October 1, 2003, allows a Legislator to request Legislative Commission review of an adopted but not yet effective temporary regulation. After adopting a temporary regulation, the agency must wait at least 35 days before filing the regulation with the Secretary of State. SB 421 (Act of June 13, 2005, ch. 373, 2005 Nev. Stat. 1404), effective July 1, 2005, requires agencies to keep, retain and make available for public inspection an audio recording or written transcript of a public hearing on a proposed regulation in addition to written minutes. SB 17 (Act of June 17, 2005, ch. 498, 2005 Nev. Stat. 2687), effective June 17, 2005, removed provisions which allowed the filing of permanent regulations without a review by the Legislative Commission, made the appointment of a Subcommittee to Review Regulations mandatory, and revised the procedure for the Legislative Commission to object to administrative regulations. An agency that submits a regulation to which the Legislative Commission objects must revise the regulation and resubmit it until the objection is removed or the regulation will not become effective. SB 488 (Act of June 13, 2005, ch. 383, 2005 Nev. Stat. 1477), effective July 1, 2005, requires an agency to prepare a statement identifying the methods it used in determining the impact of a proposed regulation on a small business and to include the statement in the notice of intent to act on the proposed regulation.

The 1999 Nevada Legislature passed two bills that affect the adoption of administrative regulations. Assembly Bill 12 (Act of June 8, 1999, ch. 472, 1999 Nev. Stat. 2405) revises the definition of “regulation” set forth in NRS 233B.038 to include “[t]he general application by an agency of a written policy, interpretation, process or procedure to determine whether a person is in compliance with a federal or state statute or regulation in order to assess a fine, monetary penalty or monetary interest.” AB 12 also expands the list of things that do not constitute a regulation. Among other things, the revised definition: (1) applies only to “the general application” of a written policy, interpretation, process, or procedure; (2) applies only to a written policy, interpretation, process, or procedure; (3) applies only where the agency is attempting to assess a fine, monetary penalty, or monetary interest; (4) does not apply to a declaratory ruling or advisory opinion issued in a specific case; (5) does not apply to a finding or decision in a contested case; (6) does not apply to a published opinion of the Attorney General; and (7) does not apply where a person had “sufficient prior actual notice” of the agency’s policy, interpretation, process, or procedure.

AB 486 (Act of May 31, 1999, ch. 443, 1999 Nev. Stat. 2070), effective January 1, 2000, adds several additional steps to the process of adopting administrative regulations. It requires an agency to consider, before conducting a workshop on a proposed regulation, whether the regulation will have an impact on a small business, defined as one which employs fewer than 150 full-time or part-time employees. If the proposed regulation will have an impact on small businesses, the agency must attempt to consult with owners of such businesses, consider ways to reduce the impact, and prepare a small business impact statement. The small business impact statement requires information similar to that contained in the informational statement required for regulations generally. AB 486 also creates a procedure whereby a small business can formally object to the adoption of a regulation. If an objection is filed, the agency must consider whether the objection has merit and, if it so finds, must amend the regulation.

The 1997 Nevada Legislature passed two bills that affect the procedural requirements for the adoption of administrative regulations and an additional bill that will increase public access to regulations. Assembly Bill 120 (Act of June 6, 1997, ch. 127, 1997 Nev. Stat. 275) implements Ballot Question 5, an amendment to the Nevada Constitution, approved by the voters, that authorizes the Legislature to object to the adoption of regulations it finds exceed statutory authority or are inconsistent with legislative intent. If the commission objects to a regulation, it is returned to the agency which may revise it and continue to resubmit it until the objection is satisfied. If the agency elects not to revise the objectionable regulation, the commission may suspend the filing of the regulation until the 30th day after the next regular session of the Legislature. Within the first 30 days of that session, the Legislature may, by concurrent resolution, declare that the regulation shall not become effective. If the Legislature does not act upon an objection within the first 30 days of the session, the regulation will be filed and become effective.

Assembly Bill 122 (Act of May 28, 1997, ch. 97, 1997 Nev. Stat. 185) requires additional information to be included in the notice of intent to adopt regulations if the regulation overlaps or duplicates a federal regulation, is required pursuant to federal law or contains more stringent requirements than a federal law addressing the same subject. AB 122 also amends NRS 233B.050 to require agencies to review all their regulations at least once every 10 years to determine whether any should be repealed or amended and report the results to the Legislature. The bill also amends NRS 233B.061 to require that an agency conduct at least one workshop to solicit comments from interested persons on the general topics addressed in proposed regulations.

Assembly Bill 120 (Act of July 11, 1997, ch. 397, 1997 Nev. Stat. 1389) requires the Legislative Counsel Bureau to publish a register of administrative regulations. The register, to be distributed to and maintained by several state and local offices as well as on the Internet, must include the proposed and adopted text of regulations, including revisions, the notice of intent to adopt regulations, the written notice of adoption required by NRS 233B.064, the informational statement required by NRS 233B.066, and the effective date of the regulation. The Legislative Counsel Bureau is also directed to include in the Administrative Code the date on which each agency last reviewed its regulations and the citation of authority by which each section of a permanent regulation has been adopted.

The 1995 Nevada Legislature passed two bills that affect the procedural requirements for the adoption of administrative regulations. Senate Bill 277 (Act of May 17, 1995, ch. 106, 1995 Nev. Stat. 128) became effective on May 17, 1995 and contains several new procedural requirements including changes in the way notice is given of public hearings on proposed regulations. Senate Bill 573 (Act of July 5, 1995, ch. 672, § 3, 1995 Nev. Stat. 2580), passed and approved on July 5, 1995, contains several technical amendments to Senate Bill 277. Among other things, SB 277: (1) requires additional information to be included in the notice of a public hearing on a proposed regulation; (2) requires the notice be posted at the public library in all counties in which the adopting agency does not maintain an office; and (3) requires additional information to be included in the informational statement that must accompany an adopted regulation.

Assembly Bill 286 (Act of July 1, 1995, ch. 160, 1995 Nev. Stat. 239) became effective on July 1, 1995 and creates additional requirements for a notice of intent to act upon a proposed regulation. The notice must now include, among other things, a statement of the estimated economic effect of the regulation on the business which it is to regulate and on the public, a description of both adverse and beneficial effects, both immediate and long-term, and the estimated cost to the agency to enforce the proposed regulation.
